To defend national sovereignty against the menace of international finance

Volume 72. Number 1.

April 1999

"And the people voted for Barabbas..."

"We've had to fight in the recent campaign, with Russia, with the U.S.A., with Europe, "CUBA", with the "Church". We have been beaten in a Plebiscite. Beaten but not defeated.

But in world history there was another Plebiscite, that judged Jesus Christ and Barabbas...."

General Augusto Pinochet

From a speech made by the General to a rally after narrowly losing the Plebiscite which he ordered be held in 1988.

VENGEANCE AND POUNDS OF FLESH

General Augusto Pinochet in 1973 became "The Liberator". Rescuing Chile from the Marxist Allende's misrule, halting Chile's rapid slide to Third World squalor and chaos, and preventing it from becoming another Cuba.

A recent, naturally hostile, Channel 4 programme shown in Britain, The Real Pinochet, had to admit that by 1988, "In his favour (were) the economy, law and order and his unquestioned financial incorruptability."

It would appear that Pinochet's mistake was to believe that in Britain today he would still be remembered, among other things, as about our only friend during the Falklands conflict. However those who now hold his fate in their hands were precisely those, or their fellow travellers, who in the 60's were cutting their political milk teeth protesting against all of the things that Pinochet did and does represent, to them. They waited until the General was recovering from major back surgery in a London Clinic and sent their stooges, in the night, to place him under arrest.

On November, 25th, 1998 the Law Lords ruled by a majority of three to two that General Pinochet was not immune from arrest and extradition to Spain.

However, it soon emerged that Lord Hoffmann, whose vote was decisive, had not considered it relevant to declare his extensive links with Amnesty International (a pressure group that has considerable influence worldwide and an even greater belief of its own moral rectitude and importance).

(Hoffmann was born in Cape Town in 1934 the son of a Jewish Lawyer. Leonard Hubert Hoffmann obtained his BA in South Africa, then went to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar to read Law. In a recent speech Hoffmann described himself as "a Jew by race rather than religion." Jewish Chronicle 12/2/99)

As a barrister, Leonard Hoffmann QC appeared for Amnesty International in 1982 in litigation over the Charity Commissioners' refusal to register it as a charity.

In 1990, he became a director of Amnesty International Charity Ltd. and at some time between 1990 to 1997 he became the Chairman. His wife Gillian has also worked for Amnesty International for many years.

Amnesty International had in fact been allowed to appear at the appeal hearing, in a capacity hostile to the General, and had argued in favour of extradition through its counsel!

As a result of Hoffmann's quite astonishing omission the Law Lords were placed in the hugely embarrassing position of 'vacating' their own ruling for the first time ever and starting over again.

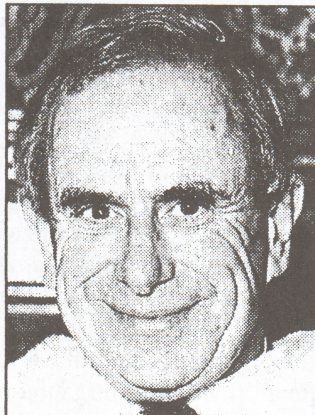

A Third Position activist pickets outside the House of Lords

The result of the second hearing, heard by seven Law Lords was that the general could face extradition for any charge of conspiracy to torture, allegedly committed after Britain ratified the International Torture Convention on December 8, 1988. The Spanish communist, Judge Baltasar Garzon, responsible for bringing the original charges then promptly announced that he would present up to 33 others for the consideration of the Crown Prosecution Service.

This left the final decision in the hands of Home Secretary Jack Straw. Following Straw's decision, on April 15, 1999, that General Pinochet should be extradited, the General was re-arrested the next day at his rented home in Wentworth, Surrey, where he was already under "house arrest". At the same time the CPS confirmed that it was formulating possible fresh charges from a list of 51 new accusations from communist Judge Garzon.

Is it possible that a highly motivated, and now highly placed group of international/internationalist fellow travellers, are using the case against General Pinochet to set a precedent? As part of the New World Order agenda....

Lord Hoffmann

Hoffmann is a frequent visitor to Spain and some have asked if he, through his leading role in Amnesty International, has had contact with anti-Pinochet agitators there in the past, of which communist Judge Baltasar is one of the most vociferous.

Straw, now Home Secretary of a Labour government, back in March, a mere month before his final word on the Pinochet case was due, found himself the target of some damning accusations. It was alleged, that this former leading light of the, Marxist controlled, National Union of Students had not only visited Chile in 1966 as a student, but had spent an afternoon discussing politics with Salvador Allende, who was then a Senator, and of course the man who died when Pinochet liberated Chile!

Straw, of course, strenuously denied these claims by The Mail on Sunday. The national newspaper also claimed that he had "demonstrated against Pinochet on the streets of London." This was also denied.

That men such as these hold the future and probably final years of a man such as General Pinochet in their 'favour' should not dishearten or sadden us but move us to anger and action.

RESURRECTION

WHEN WAS THE LAST (AND FIRST) TIME "THEY" CHOSE BARABBAS? We all should know the answer to that one. It is what the current "MILLENNIUM" is all about; that peasant, that carpenter's Son from Nazareth whose only claim to fame - or infamy - as his contemporary Satanic money-powered minions would have it - was that He called Himself the Messiah, i.e., the Son of God, the Saviour, promised from Eden: God made man to redeem the fallen race of Israel. The Governor of that obscure Roman Province believed Him, but would not release Him in the face of that blackmailing mob of devil worshippers, masquerading as the High Priestly guardians of the Holy of Holies, in the Temple of Jerusalem. The Personification of Truth in the person of Jesus of Nazareth had to be disposed of before the demoniac race of Cain could attain the Rule of the World.

So Pilate shrugged away from the challenge of Eternal Truth and "passed the buck", to, "the People" - and we know that is how Demo(n)cracy triumphs. Almost any "mob" can be kept in chaotic ignorance of the reality of Truth - the Devil's advocates have only to "go among them", and - They choose Barabbas....

So what went wrong with that result?

Why are the Pharasaical Jews still manouvering for the ultimate mastery of their One World Dominion?

In one word: RESURRECTION.

The Truth would not stay entombed: and that is why He is still an inescapable FACT, nearly Two Thousand after that "obscure peasant" died a criminal's death on Golgotha, a small mound in an equally - then - obscure province of the Roman Empire situated in what we now call Palestine - yet still, the Dei/Regicides do not give up. Under the domination of their devilish genius, "They", have persisted for centuries trying, and to great an extent succeeding, in keeping "The People" in pathetic ignorance of the reality of that saving Eternal Truth, our victorious Sign of Victory, now and forever.

Once this mainspring is concealed or denied, the streams of all truth become vehicles for the pollution ceaselessly emitted by the manufactuories of lies, until the murky waters poison every unsuspecting victim who drinks from them. "Unsuspecting" is the operative word. "The troubles of our proud and angry dust." stem from the arrogant conviction that modern man "knows it all", which is somewhat ironic in an age when "school masters" have become "teachers" who are expected only to "supervise" whilst their alleged pupils, "do their own thing." "Indoctrination" is almost as dirty a word as "proselytise" - Man forbid either!

MYSTERIOUS DEATHS....

SENATOR JOSEPH R.
McCARTHY
EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION, INC.
P.O. BOX 2222, BROOKFIELD, WISCONSIN 53008,
U.S.A.

Dear Mr. Todd,

Thank you so very much for your interest in Senator Joseph R. McCarthy and the Foundation which is trying to honor his name and courageous work defending our nation against its enemies, foreign and domestic. Thank you also for the information about A.K. Chesterton, which I haven't yet finished reading. I'm sure Mr. Chesterton and Senator McCarthy had a lot in common in their desires to preserve English and United States sovereignty and mutual heritage against the forces of internationalism.

I have enclosed a packet of information about Senator McCarthy, which I am confident you will find interesting and informative - much of which information has been denied American citizens by a corrupted and biased liberal news media in this country. I have also enclosed a list of books, pamphlets and tapes available through the Foundation....

We would indeed be honoured if Senator McCarthy would be written up in some future edition of Candour. Please send us a copy....

Sincerely,

Earl R. Denny, (Acting) Sec./Treas.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Foundation

FOR THE CAUSE OF WORLD GOVERNMENT JOE McCARTHY HAD TO DIE!

By Earl R. Denny

Thirty years ago, May 2, 1957, Joseph Raymond McCarthy, the courageous anti-communist U.S. Senator from Wisconsin, died under more than questionable circumstances at Bethesda, Maryland Naval Hospital. Some claim that he was MURDERED!

If you subscribe to the "Conspiracy Theory" of history, you will understand WHY Joe McCarthy had to die. If you don't - you'll still find this article provocative, and it should leave you with a better understanding and appreciation of what powerful forces he was up against in his dauntless effort to rid our government of subversive individuals who were helping to direct our nation's foreign policy toward ONE-WORLD GOVERNMENT.

THE FATAL SPEECH

(McCarthy Exposes Money Power Behind Communism)

When Senator McCarthy was at the highpoint of his anti-Communist campaign, he hired Eustace Mullins to research and carefully document information on the people who were behind the Communist movement. He knew the well-publicised "agents", but he suspected that they were only front-men.

Mr. Mullins prepared a special 25-page report which summarized his findings. Senator McCarthy used this report as the basis for a key speech delivered to a prominent group of Midwest industrialists in Chicago. He received a standing ovation, and was given substantial pledges of financial support from these and businessmen. However, that speech caused the downturn of McCarthy's career.

In his excellent autobiographical work, Writ for Martyrs, Mr. Mullins states: "From that night on, he was relentlessly attacked by the press. As long as he had limited his attack to the 'Communists', the ruling order was content to let him proceed along certain well-defined lines. Now he had gone outside those lines, and was turning the spotlight on the people who were financing the world Communist movement. He had gone too far. Bernard Baruch soon called him to New York for a private conference in his suite at the Hotel Carlyle. Baruch informed McCarthy that he could continue to expose Communist spies, but he must never again refer to the people who financed the Communist movement. McCarthy agreed to these terms. He never again referred to the financial forces behind Communism.

SENATOR JOSEPH MCCARTHY

"However, it was too late. The dogs were already unleashed, and they pursued him mercilessly until his final hour. Few people realise that the instrument of his downfall, the Army-McCarthy Hearings, were set in motion because McCarthy had dared to attack Secretary of the Army Stevens, who was a partner of J.P. Morgan Co. Stevens was also a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Stevens, head of the J.P. Stevens textile firm, and married to Dorothy Whitney, found it intolerable that McCarthy dared to criticise him. Partners at J.P. Morgan Co. consider U.S. Senators as mere mailroom clerks. A mailroom clerk does not address a partner; certainly he would never dare to criticise him. Thousands of investigative reporters in Washington observed the army-McCarthy Hearings, yet none of them mentioned the obvious fact that McCarthy had 'forgotten his place'. It was for this reason that he was censured by the entire Senate."

Mullins stated that at the time he did the confidential report for Senator McCarthy, "he was believed to be the single most powerful political figure in the United States". He couldn't believe that he could be brought down so rapidly.

This commentary by Eustace Mullins on the "money behind Communism" brings to mind a statement made by Dr. Bella Dodd, a former member of the National Committee of the U.S. Communist Party, to W. Cleon Skousen, author of two great books on the international Communist conspiracy - The Naked Communist and The Naked Capitalist, the latter being a review and commentary on Dr. Carroll Quigley's book, Tragedy and Hope. Dr. Dodd said: "I think that the Communist conspiracy is merely a branch of a much bigger conspiracy."

Dr. Dodd said that she first became aware of "some mysterious super leadership" right after World War II when the U.S. Communist Party had difficulty getting instructions from Moscow on several vital matters requiring immediate attention. The American Communist hierarchy was told that anytime they had an emergency of this kind they should contact any one of three designated persons at the Waldorf Towers. Dr. Dodd noted that whenever the Party obtained instructions from any of these men, Moscow always ratified them.

What puzzled Dr. Dodd was the fact that not one of these three contacts was a Russian. Nor were any of them Communists. In fact, all three were extremely wealthy American capitalists! "I would certainly like to find out who is really running things," she stated to Mr. Skousen.

THE SECRET MEETING AT ST. SIMON'S

In his excellent book, The Red Fog Over America, a documentary on the World Revolutionary Movement to establish a ONE-WORLD GOVERNMENT, the late William Guy Carr writes (p. 243-251) of a highly secretive meeting at the King and Prince Hotel, on St. Simon's Island (located off the coast of Georgia), February 14-17, 1957. (* 1st meeting of the Bilderburgers).

The purpose of the meeting, according to Carr, "was to make those invited realise that it was useless for their governments to hope to beat the Communist policy of 'perpetual wars and revolution until perpetual peace is assured.' The delegates were urged to 'advise' their governments to accept the idea of a ONE-WORLD GOVERNMENT and a ONE-WORLD MONETARY SYSTEM, as the ONLY alternative. They were asked to put the idea into effect at the earliest possible moment. All those invited had, at one time or another, admitted publicly that they were in favour of a ONE-WORLD GOVERNMENT. At this meeting, they were told to threaten their governments with atomic wars and revolutionary uprisings, if they didn't put their ideas into practice.

Those who addressed the delegates.... pointed out that those present "represented the 'brains'" of their respective countries. They made them feel that they were much better qualified to rule the world than a mob of uncultured Communists. It was pointed out to them that if they composed the first WORLD GOVERNMENT, 'brains' would rule instead of brute force; the masses would be given what was good for them; a WORLD POLICE FORCE would make wars and rebellions impossible. The world would then enjoy peace and prosperity.

What was said sounded very practical. Delegates were asked to endorse the ideas expressed to them. They did, and this fact was made known to Prime Minister Harold MacMillan of Britain and President Eisenhower. This explains the hurriedly arranged meeting between the two in Bermuda shortly afterwards.

Now, what did this secret meeting have to do with Senator Joseph R. McCarthy? Carr does not mention any link between this meeting and the death of the Senator. The conspirators were obviously stepping up the pace to accomplish their stated goal of ONE-WORLD GOVERNMENT. Joe McCarthy was the ONE man in the U.S. Senate who (1) knew in intimate detail their plan for world government and the names of those in our government (and behind the scenes) who were directing our foreign policy accordingly; (2) was in a position to expose the conspiracy and thwart the conspirators in their efforts and (3) had the courage to do so. JOE McCARTHY HAD TO GO! Seventy - four days after the close of the St. Simon's meeting, Joe McCarthy was DEAD! Coincidence....?

WAS JOE McCARTHY MURDERED

Senator Joseph McCarthy died under mysterious circumstances in Bethesda, Maryland Naval Hospital. This is the same government institution in which James Forrestal (former Secretary of the Navy and Defence) is supposed to have committed suicide, by jumping out of a window. He was in the Neurological Ward when he jumped. It is in the Neurological wards that drugs, which can induce suicidal tendencies, are used for purposes of diagnosis. An overdose of these drugs causes suicidal tendencies. Some of the circumstances surrounding the death of Senator McCarthy are covered in Red Fog Over America, (Carr), pages 258-261:

(1) McCarthy was allowed to run 'hog wild', just as long as he named those he accused of subversion as being Communists, or pro-Communists. It was not until he was informed that the Illuminati controlled international Communism at the top, that he was forced into political eclipse.

(2) Pressure was lifted when he appeared to accept defeat submissively. But, when he explained to those who took his place, how Weishaupt in 1776, and Pike in 1871, had laid down, how atheistic-Communism was to be used by the Illuminati to further THEIR secret plans and ambitions, then those who are the "Secret Power" behind the scenes of our elected governments, apparently decided it was time that he was eliminated.

(3) It is known that McCarthy submitted to a thorough physical examination just before he entered Bethesda Hospital. An intimate friend informed us that his private physician found nothing seriously wrong. He discovered no signs of hepatitis.

(4) According to another of McCarthy's friends, the Senator mentioned to him that he was going into Bethesda Hospital, and the friend asked him, "Why are you going into that place? Have you never heard of a guy named James Forrestal?" Investigators should find out if McCarthy REQUESTED to go into the hospital for a check-up of his war disabilities or was ORDERED to report for medical treatment.

(5) Press reports stated that McCarthy was transferred from the medical to the Neurological ward, where he died. Should investigators determine WHY this was done? Psychopoliticians, who serve the Illuminati, after being trained in the Lenin Institute in Moscow, have been infiltrated into the Neurological wards and mental institutions throughout the so-called Free World.

(6) The textbook used to teach Psychopolitics in the Lenin Institute is based on Freudian theories. It says that all troublesome people shall be taken out of circulation by rendering them temporarily insane by injection of such drugs as Peyote, Mescaline and Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD). The victims can then be certified as insane and placed in the mental 'hospitals'. An overdose of the named drugs are said to induce suicidal tendencies.

The textbook also states that people who have great influence with the masses, and oppose the progress of the conspiracy towards world domination shall be eliminated, but it warns that their deaths must be made to look as if they had died accidentally, from natural causes, or as suicides. (Joe McCarthy was certainly a 'troublesome person' to those seeking to establish World Government, and his death was 'officially' due to natural causes.) * His wife did not agree. Ed.

(7) Joe McCarthy's death certificate was reproduced on page 260 of Carr's book. It was issued by Lt. C.U. Shilling of the U.S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Maryland. It says that Joe McCarthy died of "Hepatitis acute, cause unknown".

The laws of the Federal Government, and every State in the Union, make it a crime to bury a person dead of an unknown cause; and they require an autopsy in every such case to determine the cause of death and eliminate the possibility of foul play or murder. THERE WAS NO AUTOPSY DONE ON THE BODY OF JOE McCARTHY. WHY NOT? Why did the authorities refuse to comply with the law in spite of the insistent demands from the public?

Was Senator McCarthy murdered? There should certainly have been an investigation. There certainly could still be one. Like the assassination of President Kennedy, (whose alleged body was also taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital before being buried at Arlington), there would no doubt be the attempted official 'cover-up' of facts in any investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Joe McCarthy.

Senator McCarthy gave his last formal speech on February 9, 1957, in which he vigorously criticized President Eisenhower for promising to turn over to the Soviet Union sufficient Uranium 235 to make enough atomic bombs "to destroy every major city in the United States". Coincidentally, the last address was presented to a Lincoln Day Dinner of the Wisconsin G.O.P. Club exactly seven years to the day after he had given his first formal speech on Communism in Wheeling, West Virginia.

In an epilogue to an article in the May, 1964 American Opinion, titled "McCarthy -The Truth, The Smear and The Lesson", author James J. Drummey states: "Who can say how many years of freedom he purchased for America by sacrificing his personal well-being, and by assimilating the poisonous and incredible torrent of abuse and hatred directed against him by the Communists and their hysterical allies? Who can say how long the Communists (and other ONE-WORLDEERS) were delayed in their planned conquest of America while McCarthy engaged them in battle?"

"A man with the intellect and the courage, the drive and honesty of Joe McCarthy, must now not be made to have spent it all without reason. Senator McCarthy knew that America is at war. And though his battle is over, he would want you to remember that the war goes on. It is the ultimate war. It can end only, as he so often said, with victory or death for our civilisation. If Americans will search their souls and act with courage in the cause which is right, then Joseph Raymond McCarthy will not have fought and died in vain."

NOTES: Bernard Baruch was one of the most powerful persons "behind the scenes" of United States foreign and economic policies in this century. Eustace Mullins noted in a letter to William Guy Carr, "In 1919 Baruch possessed ten billions in war profits, from his monopoly of tungsten during the war. He purchased the old Gentile banking house of Reed and Co. and placed Clarence Lapowitz, who had been his assistant in the War Industries Board, in charge of it. Lapowitz took the name (C. Douglas) Dillon, the firm became known as Dillon-Reed and Co. How to invest the war profits? In a new war, of course. Dillon-Reed put up twenty-five million dollars for the Vereinigte Stahlwerke of the Ruhr, financing Thyssen and Hitler." (p. 204, Red Fog Over America, W.G. Carr).

"When Churchill communicated with Roosevelt, it was exactly as if he had communicated with Bernard Baruch personally. When Churchill visited the United States after the war to talk with Eisenhower, he called first of all on Baruch to get briefed as to how much the new president knew about international intrigue. He had to know exactly what he could say, and what he must not say. After the talks with the president, Mr. Churchill was the guest of Mr. Baruch at his home. It is taken for granted that he informed Mr. Baruch of all that had taken place in the White House. The real conferences at the summit have been held in New York.

Before Molotov went back to Russia after the San Francisco meeting in 1955, he visited Baruch and, undoubtedly, received his orders. Molotov must subscribe to the international bankers ideas for an international dictatorship...."

"Before President Eisenhower left for the "Big Four" meeting in Geneva, Bernard Baruch was closeted with him for a considerable time. Baruch undoubtedly "advised" him what to say and do. The President of the United States, if reports are correct, never reads books; rarely reads magazine articles and seldom looks at newspapers. He relies almost entirely on what he is told by his 'specialists' and 'advisors'. Reporters who cover his news conferences remark amongst themselves about his ignorance regarding international intrigue. Drew Pearson once commented about "the boys who run things for Ike." This helps to support the opinion of those who feel the president is an easy mark for the men Bernard Baruch appoints to be his advisors." (Red Fog Over America pp. 216-217.)

McCarthy was right about the Red Menace

"The truth about communism has been apparent to anyone who cared to know it, since 1917. It is a testimony to the degeneracy of our intellectual classes, which on the whole, with a few brave exceptions, have not cared to know it, preferring instead to vilify those "anti-communists" and McCarthyites who had the impertinence to remind them.

In all the dreadful story of Western weakness and gullibility, a few people stand out as prepared to sacrifice even their reputations, even the respect of their fellows, for the sake of unwelcome truths. And by no means the least of these was McCarthy."

From an article by Prof. Roger Scruton of the University of London for The Los Angeles Times of 2/1/1991.

Thoughts on "Britain" Yesterday - Today And.... ?

Peter Burdon who is a long time, faithful, subscriber of Candour from A.K.C., to today, sent this contribution which gave us food for thought, and, of course, some contradiction! His courage is exemplary, and perhaps a Candour MEDAL could be appropriate, with A.K.C. facing. We would greatly appreciate the thoughts of all of our readers about the production of such an item....

'A few weeks ago I was asked to meet some young people at the local Youth Club to air my views about this and that. I made a few 'headlines' on cards and waffled on, ad libbing. There were plenty of interruptions and arguments and I don't think I was anywhere convincing the majority! But at least one young lady said that I ought to put it down on paper. That brought up the question of how much I could remember of a rather unstructured evening!

But I did neaten up a few of my 'headlines'. And that left me with the question of what to do with the finished article? Certainly no local newspaper or magazine would touch it with a barge pole.

Any use to you when you have a spare corner? I suspect it is preaching to the converted.... However, remember that in my editing days (motoring magazines) one was occasionally faced with a blank space on "paste-up", if Editors still use that method these days?

Ditch it, if you don't want it; I shan't be hurt - not one tiny bit,

GOD BLESS, and Yours Sincerely,
Peter Burdon.

"From my father's family tree I know that most of my forbears attained the Psalmist's threescore and ten. A hardy few marched on to celebrate their 82nd Birthdays. My Mothers family? Nothing. She was a foundling who died in her early sixties.

So, barring accident and infection, I must trust my paternal genes to see me through for another 24 months or so.

Looking back over my 80 years, I deeply regret that Great Britain twice engaged in hugely destructive wars with Germany - a country I visited as a schoolboy. In due course my pen friend of those days became my "enemy" and we have never contacted each other since.

On each occasion we lost more than we gained

Even now, I am mystified by the liquidation of the British Empire in fewer than 20 years after WW II. It was the most benevolent and extensive in history. Over vast areas millions flourished, huge regions, previously famine-stricken, even began exporting surplus foodstuffs. Slavery, torture, mutilation and witchcraft were curbed if not totally abolished. Whole populations were rid of their parasites. And now in vast areas famine has returned and the world is the poorer and less stable.

I rue the surrender of a thousand years of independence when we signed the Treaty of Rome. Technically, it was not treason, jurists assure us. Personally, I have no doubt it was spiritually so.

Surely our governments of the 50's and 60's were misguided to encourage thousands of immigrants into a country, even then, admittedly overcrowded and dangerously dependent upon world trade. In this particular context (population density) race, colour, culture or creed are irrelevant, for newcomers and "natives" alike can be guaranteed to procreate enthusiastically. Today nearly 60 millions of us are crammed into these multi-ethnic, multi-cultural, multi-faith islands almost bereft of manufacturing capacity. Even 40 millions would be too many.

So what would I wish for this beleaguered old country?

First. That we may one day find the nerve to walk out of the set-up mis-called European Union with its armies of freeloading bureaucrats. (Less than 10% of our export trade is with Euroland, so there is little to fear on that score.)

Second. That we may rid ourselves of a usurious monetary system that exists primarily to serve the interests (in every meaning of the word) of the close-knit international money lenders and only secondarily the needs of the nation. Modern money is, in fact, "magicked" into existence for the purpose of charging interest on it.

Third. That we retain the Monarchy and restore its traditional sole power to appoint Ministers of State. At present some of the best human material is barred from useful office because it happens to sit on the Opposition benches. We are not so replete with talent that we can afford such waste.

Fourth. That political parties disappear and truly independent candidates be helped to stand for Parliament. Only then shall we have real representatives at Westminster, exercising their judgement according to their own conscience. Today we have only mere selected delegates mirroring the views of their constituents or (even worse) their party caucuses. Free of the vicious party disciplines, they will be able to carry out their proper duty of controlling the Executive. Impeachment of erring or inefficient Ministers would be within their remit. It follows that no person could be both Minister and MP at the same time. Separation of Executive and Parliament is, in my view, essential.

These are but some of the changes I think would help to restore the political and economic health of this country, which deserves so much more than a succession of quite appalling governments have given it.

The nostalgic ramblings of a rather disgruntled old fellow?

Maybe. Always at the back of my mind is the memory of the Parliament we had before the Treaty of Rome. We could have it again if we had the will and, unrestricted by a written constitution, it could pass any legislation it liked (and I am tempted to add "and to hell with Brussels", but will refrain).

Why, such a Parliament could abolish all political parties, hang traitors, licence pigs to fly - and send me a congratulatory E-Mail on my 100th birthday.

Since this has become a compendium of complaints, here is a very last one for good measure.

A majority of our "leaders" seem impatient to integrate Britain with a sovereign Europe. At the very same time they encourage separatist movements in Scotland and Wales and regional decentralisation generally! I am lost in wonderment....

Of course, my opinions are set in concrete and it is far too late to change them now. Mixing the metaphors, my mind is not a bed to be made and unmade.

If any wish to challenge my views I claim the privilege of age to duck out of the ring. I am on the wing and have other things to do (and perhaps undo....)

If there is time....

Editor's Comments: The only sentiment above expressed which I would amend is the Fourth: Political parties should certainly "disappear" - but so should 'permanent' Parliament, which is an invention of the Devil, issuing as spawn from the womb of the treasonous offspring of the "Glorious Revolution", 1688, i.e., the so-called Bank of England, since the birth of which Exchange/Currency in our country has been replaced by Interest/Bearing Scrip issued by the aforesaid bogus establishment, owned and managed by the Hebraic descendants of the Money Lenders of the Temple of Jerusalem who were ignominiously chased out of their blasphemous occupation some 2,000 years ago by Jesus Christ, the Son of the Living God.

BOOK REVIEW by Leslie von Goetz.

Patriotism Perverted: Captain Ramsey, the Right Club and British Anti-semitism 1939-40.

By Richard Griffiths.

Published by Constable. ISBN. 009 467920 7. 25.00.

This book is a really sad example of the decay into which the study of History has fallen, so that it is possible for a reputable historian, clearly concerned to be fair, to perpetrate such a dense thicket of learned unreality. He has learned (and written) more and more about less and less. He actually thinks Mosley was being snobbish when he described a new recruit (to the British Union of Fascists. Ed) as "the sort of person who takes tea with my mother", rather accurately indicating a well meaning buffer unlikely to be "active" in any respect.

Both the Sunday Times and Daily Telegraph managed to review this book in fairly glowing terms without mentioning the author's big omission. He has given us a lot of very detailed information about right-wing opposition to the possibility of war and indeed to the threat that it would become really serious during the phoney war period, but he does not say anything about the vigorous opposition to the war (and actual acts of sabotage) committed by those who took their total guidance from the Soviet Union. Actually he does mention that some of them were supporting a meeting in 1940 which had a very wide range of support from fringe groups, but he gives the impression, by his massive bulk of evidence, that although these right-wingers had their children, or even themselves, in the Armed Forces, they were in the forefront of opposition (and then only to the extent of putting sticky labels on lamp-posts and such like) yet he really believes that these would have been the men on whom Hitler would have relied to govern this country had he invaded after the fall of France.

He describes as "virulent anti-semitism" activities involving no broken bones, or even broken windows! He does not seem to have noticed that the only physical problems encountered by the Jewish refugees derived from the British Government, which arrested them as enemy aliens and even interned them with British Fascists on the Isle of Man. He (Griffiths) knows from his research that the post-war world is something very different from the 1930's but he does not understand what (or who, Ed.) has made it so.

As a perfect example of the closed world in which he works he quotes a remark of John Beckett's at a public meeting that it was felt preferable to campaign against 'usury' rather than directly attacking Jewry as it would get more support. "From now on," he writes, "we shall find the terms 'usury' and 'international money power' used continually by people such as Beckett and Greene as a coded reference to the Jews, to be understood by their members". I cannot speak for Beckett but "International Finance" was (then.Ed) an enemy for the British Labour Party, way back in the twenties before Hitler had really got going at all. Ben Greene, my father, was not at all 'anti-semitic' but his hatred of usury dated back to his teens. If historians like Mr. Griffiths really believe that "Usury = Jews" it is not surprising that the Catholic Church, which was condemning Usury back in the Middle Ages has now been branded as condoning, or even supporting, the Nazis, when they clearly did not. Nowadays it is more politically correct to talk about "International Bankers", "Oil Interests" or "Arms Manufacturers" when you mean something international, influential and nasty but NOT Communist.

Poor Mr. Griffiths does not understand that, even if it were true, which it patently is not, that all usurers were Jews, it certainly would not mean that all Jews were usurers, and it really might be better to attack the real thing.

One final point must be made because for some reason it never is. Churchill's correspondence with Roosevelt, which Tyler Kent revealed to Captain Ramsay, was being conducted behind the Prime Minister's back and was a truly shocking breach of security in itself. The fact that Churchill became Prime Minister at the moment Ramsay was locked up has masked the fact that Churchill was leaking State secrets to a foreign Head of State who was elected on a platform of neutrality. If Churchill really "knew" he could trust Roosevelt, what does that say about his contempt for the Americans who clearly couldn't or should not have?

I would not wish to be a party to putting even a penny of royalties into this author's pocket, but for those who are interested in all of the fringe organisations and activities of the 1939-40 period, it may well be worth borrowing from your local library. It is particularly interesting to see who were so repelled by the Nazi-Soviet Pact that they ceased to trust Germany, Hitler or anything else, even 'anti-semitism'. But, remember, you will not find anything about the left-wingers who swung so obediently into anti-war mode and activities as soon as the pact became known. They have obviously slipped from History....

Repeat Raid on Colin Jordan!

North Yorkshire Police staged a further raid on the Greenhow home of right-wing activist Colin Jordan on April 1st (!), 5 officers headed by D.C. Champion seizing more of his property. This followed a search and seizure last August when 8,831 items of his by police tally were taken, none of them having yet been returned; and the distribution by him of a leaflet entitled The Revengers, condemning the police action as revenge for another and earlier raid in 1991 which was subsequently conceded by the North Yorkshire Police at the High Court in London to have been illegal.

On this current and third occasion the police evaded having to apply to a magistrate for a warrant by the stratagem of seizing Mr. Jordan while in Harrogate on a shopping trip, putting him under arrest and thereby detaining him for 10 hours at Harrogate Police Station, and thus preventing him from being present when his home was invaded and ransacked and being able to check what was done and what was taken. This action he condemns as yet another round of revenge by the Thought Police (Special Branch) directed against him by Home Secretary Jack Straw.

Colin Jordan has applied to High Court in London for leave for a judicial review of the police conduct, and his application is to be heard in open court there on July 1.

Anti-Communist Russians in WW II !

This NEW video has 3 films recently shown on Russian Television. They are superb and largely deal with an episode at the end of WW II that we are not free to discuss in this country.

Tens of thousands of White Cossacks and other anti-Communist Russian Volunteers served with the German armed forces through 1941-45. After their surrender to the Western Allies, and believing that they would be treated as P.O.W.'s, they and their families were brutally handed over to the Red NKVD. Shamefully this was mostly done by British troops on the orders of the politicians.

These remarkable films are almost neutral in presentation and contain some very rare footage from German, British, U.S. and Russian archives from 1917-45.

Cossack veterans who escaped repatriation, or survived the Siberian Gulags, are seen re-united with their German Officers and NCO's at a recent gathering at Leinzs, in the Austrian Alps, where many settled with their families.

Includes footage of Count Nicolai Tolstoy being very warmly received by present day Cossack military formations for his heroic defence, in the "British" Law Courts, of their fathers or grandfathers.... Also rare footage of General Andrei Vlasov and the POA Volunteers.

2 POA Volunteers, 1944.

They Were White and They Were Slaves...

is a thoroughly researched challenge to the conventional historiography of colonial and industrial labour, a stunning journey into a hidden epoch, the slave trade in Whites, hundreds of thousands of whom were kidnapped, chained, whipped and worked to death in the American colonies and during the Industrial Revolution. This is a chronicle that has never been fully told, part of a vital heritage that has until now comprised the dustiest shelf in the darkest corner of suppressed history.

We now have available a stock of the latest edition of They Were White and They Were Slaves by Michael A. Hoffman (Fourth Edition, 10th printing. 1998.) Paperback. 137 pages. Illustrated.
